Board seeks to delay JK

by Russ Duhaime

The Haliburton County Board of Education is striving to come up with a reason to postpone the implementation of Junior Kindergarten until after the next provincial election.

The board's Education Committee wrestled at length Tuesday to come up with an excuse that the Ministry of Education will accept. The best they could muster was the shortage of classroom space in Haliburton village.

The ministry has set a Sept. 1, 1994 deadline for the implementation of Junior Kindergarten across the province. An exemption, however, is possible if school boards can provide reasons why they can not have this program up and running by that time. The deadline could then be deferred by up to three years.

The board has made no secret about its opposition to this program, which introduces youngsters to the classroom a year earlier. Haliburton is one of 16 Ontario school boards to formally oppose this initiative.

Still, it's not enough for Charges laid in Minden break-ins

by Russ Duhaime

A fresh blanket of snow has led to the arrest of a 23-year-old Haliburton County man who is charged in connection with two of the recent break-ins at Minden area establishments.

The Minden arena and Curling Club were broken into on the evening of December 29. The perpetrator made off with some cash, liquor and Nevada tickets, but left behind a set of footprints in the fresh snow. Arena Manager Brian Sisson followed the tracks to a Minden residence.

OPP Constable Mike Landry says police searched the residence and found some of the stolen items.

Joe Porter is charged with breaking and entering and possession of stolen property. He will appear in court on February 2 in Minden.

Over the past few months, the Minden area has been plagued with break-ins and thefts. The Heritage Plaza was the first to be hit on Nov. 19 when all the stores were entered and small amounts of cash taken.

The Arena has been broken into three times, where vending machines were pried open and quarters were stolen. The curling club has been hit twice and the Rockcliffe Tavern once.

The Kinmount Community Centre is filled with music every Tuesday and Thursday morning, thanks to the Legion. The 26 regular playschool children are now armed with an assortment of musical instruments, courtesy of a Legion donation. Legion president Joe Kelly did some clowning with the children last Tuesday when he delivered the gift.

The search is over County hires new clerk-treasurer

by Russ Duhaime

The county's troublesome search for a new Chief Administrative Officer is over, at least temporarily.

After twice failing to sign a potential CAO, the county has agreed, instead, to hire a new Clerk-Treasurer. As an added bonus, council has managed to attract a local man with a brief but impressive background in financial and municipal management and computers.

Terry Noble, who was raised near Tory Hill and graduated from Haliburton Highlands Secondary School, was signed to a temporary contract last Wednesday.

Noble graduated from the University of Waterloo with a Bachelor of Arts in accounting and management studies. He has also completed three of four units in the Association of Municipal Clerk Treasurers (AMCT) program.

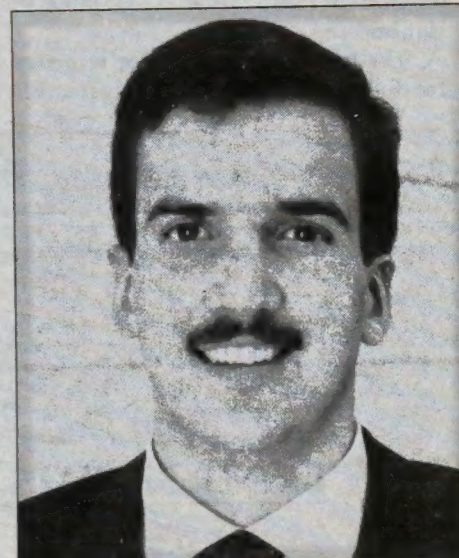

Between 1990 and 1993, Noble worked for Humpage, Taylor and MacDonald Chartered Accountants in Peterborough. Here, he provided assistance and advice to several municipalities, performed audits and offered computer consulting services. Last summer he filled a temporary position as the Assistant Clerk Treasurer for Monaghan Township.

In addition to hiring Noble, council extended its part-time contract with acting CAO Clerk Ernie Hills for another six months. Hills, who is also the Clerk Treasurer for Snowdon Township, has been working part time for the county for the past three months.

County Council was primarily interested in hiring a qualified CAO. After interviewing a few candidates, however, it was apparent none was willing to accept the pay being offered. The county offered the job to one candidate last month, but he turned it down.

With the year-end financial statements needing attention and budget preparation ahead, the county was in a bind to fill the vacancy. County Warden Jim McMahon made a call to Humpage, Taylor and MacDonald shortly before Christmas and they recommended Noble for the job.

Terry Noble fills vacancy at county office.

McMahon says he's very pleased to have Noble on board. Noble's strengths in accounting and computers are a good complement to Hills' experience as a municipal clerk. The two will work together over the next six months with Noble gradually accepting increased responsibilities.

In the short term, McMahon says Noble will be extremely busy assisting with the budget and year-end statements.

boards to say they don't want it. Education Director Brad Saunders said the board will have to come up with reasons why it can't implement the program if it wants a deferral.

"We've been trying to come up with a reason why we can't, versus why we don't want to," Saunders told the committee. "We are reading the board collectively as being opposed to JK. We're taking that reading and trying to come up with reasons."

Saunders said the only reason the board's administration could find is the accommodation shortage in Haliburton Village. In order to offer Junior Kindergarten in Haliburton, he estimates that two extra classrooms will be needed. Considering that Victoria Street School (VSS) is targeted for closure, he said it doesn't make sense to add rooms there.

While this physical limitation exists in Haliburton, there is nothing stopping the board from implementing the program in other parts of the county.

In order to get around this, the board will say that it is committed to implementing programs equally across the county. This would mean that Junior Kindergarten in all parts of the county would have to wait until additional classroom space is available in Haliburton.

The board has applied for ministry funding to expand J.D. Hodgson Elementary School. If and when this is approved, VSS will be closed and all elementary students in the Haliburton area will go to J.D. Hodgson. It is expected that this expansion will also create additional space to accommodate Junior Kindergarten.

Although the ministry may allow a three-year deferral on the implementation of Junior Kindergarten, the Superintendent of Schools suggested the board ask for only two years. He said the ministry may look more favourably on the request if the board doesn't ask for the maximum deferral time.

"We should be holding out some kind of olive branch," said Dale Robinson. By asking for a two-year deferral, the request appears more sincere.

A two-year deferral would also be enough to push implementation beyond the next provincial election, which would provide hope for a new government with a different attitude towards this program.

"Politically, what will take place is an election," said Saunders. "We can hope that a new government will have a different view on Junior Kindergarten."

Junior Kindergarten is a provincial initiative which introduces four-year-olds to the classroom. Like kindergarten, it is a voluntary program — parents do not have to enrol their children. It is a half-time program that in this county will see students attending classes every other day.

"We can hope that a new government will have a different view on Junior Kindergarten"

Hodgson proposes leadership role for hospital fundraising

by Russ Duhaime

Dysart's Reeve wants county council to take a leading role in the fundraising drive for enhancements to the county's health care system.

Reeve Chris Hodgson has prodded fellow councillors to consider what role the county might play in raising the local funds necessary to capitalize on the Ministry of Health's capital funding promise.

The ministry has promised $6.5 million in funding for new and improved health care facilities in the county. To access this money, however, the communities must first raise almost $4 million.

"This is a very important issue to the residents of Haliburton County," Hodgson told fellow councillors last Wednesday. Although some components of the plan are highly controversial, there is tremendous potential for good here, he said.

"This is a great opportunity for Haliburton County to act for our whole population." He said he would hate to see the potential lost because the local share of the costs could not be raised.

Hodgson's comments were an introduction for his notice of motion for the January 19 council meeting. He asked councillors to consider this matter and come to the next meeting prepared for further discussion.

The ministry surprised everyone last month when it announced its willingness to provide substantial support for improvements to local health care facilities. Projects approved for funding include an upgrade of Hyland Crest Senior Citizens Home, construction of a new 30-bed long-term-care facility attached to an upgraded Haliburton Hospital and upgrading of outpatient and urgent care services in Minden and Haliburton.

The funding approval, however, includes two snags. It calls for the consolidation of acute care services and requires the community to come up with more than $4-million.

Past experience with ministry funding announcements provides reason for skepticism on behalf of the community. This skepticism, along with the divisive requirement to consolidate the county's two hospitals on one site, further aggravates the difficult fundraising task.

The level of skepticism was also evident among county councillors.

"We've seen the fruits of what's happened before," said Glamorgan Deputy Reeve Glen Madill.

"Fundraising will be very difficult."

'We're reaching for the stars and we're never going to catch them.'

Warden Jim McMahon said even the local service clubs are doubtful about this communities' ability to raise $4-million. He said the average income for county residents is about $15,000, which makes it difficult to ask for contributions. "We're reaching for the stars and we're never going to catch them."

Minden's Reeve took the opportunity Wednesday to highlight a few of his concerns. He said the ministry's package included four components — one of which was not included in any of the studies or proposals initiated within the county. "Consolidation was never discussed," said Bern Berry. "What needs to be clarified is what the Ministry of Health means by consolidation." He said the package does not represent progress if consolidation means the loss of either hospital.

Further discussion of the county's role in this project will be heard on January 19.

Dysart Reeve Chris Hodgson is hoping the county will take the lead in raising the local share of the funding for enhanced health care services and facilities. Fellow councillors, however, are skeptical of the Health Ministry's commitment to seeing this project to completion. Council will debate its role in the project at its next meeting.

Carnival snowman needs a name

Win a lifelong pass to the carnival

by Andy Holloway

He's about two inches tall, celebrates the cold winter season, and can be your ticket into many events and discounts to others. There's just one problem - he or she doesn't have a name.

Minden Winter Carnival organizers are looking for a name for the cute little snowman and The Times is helping with the search. Anyone with a suggestion for a name for the snowman can drop it off at The Times office during business hours. Make sure your entry includes your name as well as a phone number where you can be reached.

The winner will receive an admission button for life to the carnival complements of The Times, as well as the pleasure of give the carnival mascot a name.

Organizers say the snowman is being used because it symbolizes winter and family participation. "One of the things we're stressing is that it is a family event and one of the reasons we like the little snowman is that families build snowmen and families should come to the carnival," said organizer Tammy McKelvey.

To enter many of the events at this year's carnival, which runs from January 27 - 30, you will need to show the snowman along with a ribbon. The ribbon and snowman cost $4 for adults and $2 for those under 18 years of age. The snowman will also get you a discount into events like the dance Saturday night.

The snowman will be used for the carnival in coming years as well, but a new ribbon will have to be purchased each year.

The schedule for the carnival was finalized last week and the line-up is as impressive as the carnival has had for many years. The carnival starts off on January 30 with preliminary judging for the Carnival King/Queen contest and pre-registration for all the events at the Municipal Council Chambers at 6:30 p.m.

The following day there will be a torch light parade, a Christmas tree bonfire and the crowning of the King and Queen.

Events on Saturday include a pancake breakfast, ski and skating challenges and a hockey game between the Minden Men's League Selects and the Minden OPP. (For a complete list of events see the ad in this week's edition of The Times.)

Minden Winter Carnival organizers need your help to name this little guy.

As well as the individual events, there will also be a curling bonspiel and ice car racing all weekend long.

The carnival has been put together by a group of dedicated volunteers who took over the event from the Minden Kinsmen after that group said it did not want to continue as the sole organizer.

OPP Report

Thieves take two snowmobiles

During the night of December 29, two snowmobiles were taken when thieves broke into a shed next to a Kushog Lake cottage. The culprits drove away with two 1993 Polaris machines. One is a black XLT and the other is a red 340.

Assault charge

On January 1 two men entered a Stanhope Township residence and used an axe handle and a club to assault another man. The assault apparently stemmed from an incident which had taken place at a party the previous night.

Charged with assault causing bodily harm, threatening, and breaking and entering are David Hicks, 31 of Eagle Lake, and Kevin Wells, 34, of Stouffville.

Grinch steals winch from HCSA

by Andy Holloway

A brand new winch worth $2,500 was stolen from a Haliburton County Snowmobile Association groomer parked outside Westside Jug City in Minden last week.

HCSA president Brian Watts said the winch is a very important piece of equipment and the association does not like to send out its groomers without it. A winch allows the groomer operator to be able to pull the vehicle out of a bog or up a steep hill if the vehicle gets stuck. The theft was reported to Minden OPP.

The HCSA has ordered another winch and Watts said it will be welded onto the groomer to prevent another theft. "Here we are a volunteer club and our insurance deductible is $5,000 so we're on the hook for the whole amount."

Watts is asking anyone who has information on the stolen winch to give the HCSA a call at 286-1722 or the Minden OPP. The winch is a heavy-duty model and would be useful for few businesses or individuals so if someone offers a great deal on one be wary, Watts said.

County enjoys a white Christmas

by Ron Mackenzie
for Phil Graham

Following seven consecutive days of wonderfully sunny weather with a high of 9C (48.2F) we did manage to have a white Christmas. Just in the nick of time the snow started to fall in earnest on the 20th, teasing us with a bit of drizzle. Then the big dump came on Christmas eve, as it should be, with all of 8 cm (3inches).

Believe it or not, this month was only 4C colder than December of 1992. December '92 had only four days with temperatures below -18C (0F). December 1993 had eight days when the mercury dipped this low. This December was generally colder with more consecutive days of very cold temperatures, so it's not just your imagination.

Phil has migrated to the sunny south as in passed years. Here's hoping it's warmer there than it is here. Enjoy, Phil.

Students hope to open own store

by Russ Duhaime

High school students may soon be able to do a bit of their shopping without leaving the school.

A group of students in Mr. Sternberg's Retail program are hoping to set up a small store within the school where they will sell supplies and "spirit wear".

Jenni Wright, Heather Pasquino, Tom O'Shaughnessy, Stuart Taylor and Jenny Hughey are the students behind this venture. Along with Sternberg, they presented their plans to the school board's education committee last Tuesday.

Although the committee members were in favour of the venture, some expressed concerns that this store might compete with existing retail outlets in the county.

Trustee Nancy Stinson said Haliburton store owners will not be impressed if goods are sold in the school for a lower price than they are offered in stores. She said store owners are not against the idea, but they don't want to be undersold.

The students plan to buy their good from local retailers, said Sternberg. In essence, retailers will be wholesalers for the school store. Existing stores will be able to make a profit by selling their goods to the school store. The objective is to provide students with an opportunity to buy products or services they can't get in the cafeteria. This would reduce the number of students leaving the school at lunch-time to buy school supplies.

Examples of the products to be sold include pencils, pens, computer discs and school spirit related items. The students will be conducting a market survey to determine what items are desired.

The venture is designed to provide students with hands-on experience in retail business. Sternberg said the students will be responsible for all aspects of the store's operation, which will be a great learning experience. The store will be operated under his supervision.

"I'm putting my work behind it, my reputation behind it," Sternberg told the committee. "I know in my heart it's a great idea." Even if the venture turns out to be a failure, Sternberg said it will be a valuable learning experience.

The store will be set up in a portion of the existing co-op education office and there will be no cost to the board. Sternberg said the co-op education coordinator sees the potential in this learning venture and has volunteered a portion of her office. Proceeds from sales will buy items needed by the school.

Local snowmobile team enters 500-mile race

by Andy Holloway

A group of Highlanders will be off to Thunder Bay later this winter to compete in the I-500, one of the most prestigious of all snowmobile races in North America.

All the members of the eight-team crew either live in the Highlands year-round or have cottages here and the team also has many local sponsors besides the main one, Prentice Berry Ltd.

Team manager Bill Moffatt describes the race as a three-day, cross-country endurance race. Covering 500 miles, drivers must ride from Thunder Bay to Duluth, Minnesota, starting January 23.

This year's team consists of drivers Doug Post, Ross Lennox and Steve Stewart, all of whom have raced for Prentice Berry in the past. Post was the top Canadian finisher in the 1991 I-500 while Lennox is an eight-time Canadian Enduro Champion. Stewart is returning to competition after a 10-year absence.

Behind those three drivers is a support team of five including manager Moffatt and mechanics Eric Doetsch, Andy Post, Steve Charity and Jim Coltman. Sponsor Paul Prentice says the team is making a concerted effort to win the race this year and Ski-doo has made available the highest calibre machines to assist them in their effort.

But it will not be easy to win. The race attracts 350 of the top drivers in North America. Snowmobile enthusiast Mark Lester says the I-500 is one of the most prestigious races for both manufacturers and the competitors. The race can increase sales of a brand of snowmobile by as many as 3,000 if one machine outperforms the rest of the field. Because the race uses machines that are readily available to anyone, and not snowmobiles specially designed for racing events, manufacturers want to show the public that their machines are the most durable, Lester says.

Prentice agrees. "If the machine is tough enough to win, then it shows the dependability of that machine."

The competitors are not left out of the windfall either. There is over $200,000 worth of prizes to be won, much of which is in the form of contingency prizes. Prentice says manufacturers put up special prizes if the winner is riding one of their machines. For example, if the winning machine is a Ski-doo then the driver receives an extra $25,000. Just finishing the race in a Ski-doo is worth an extra $1,000 to the driver.

The Prentice Berry racing team will soon be heading off to Thunder Bay to participate in the I-500 Snowmobile Race. The race ends in Duluth, Minnesota, a 500 mile trek that will take the drivers three days to cover.

Prentice used to race in the I-500 in the early 1970s when he was a professional racer for Bombardier. Since then Prentice has supported a number of racing efforts including a three-driver team (including Moffatt) in the 1991 I-500. As a sponsor, Prentice says the publicity generated by the event is important. "Not only is there the local exposure, but it's also in the magazines that are popular in the snowmobile industry like Ontario Snowmobiler and Snowtrax which will be there taking pictures."

"It's important to get out there and be recognized as a performance dealer in a performance sport like snowmobiling."

Other sponsors of this year's team include Tom Prentice and Sons Trucking, Rodco Enterprises, Sid Stamp Fuels, Pizza Den, Sled Head Signs, Paul Mayo Contracting, Hudson Agency Insurance and the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association.

Moffatt says the team is impressed by the level of local support there has been and says they will be acting as ambassadors of snowmobiling in the Highlands.

Bill Kulas donates part of commission to health care.

Minden real estate representative Bill Kulas has announced he will contribute a portion of the commission from each sale to the Minden Hospital building fund.

"The hospital is an integral part of this community," Kulas said. "It serves the needs of the growing number of young families we have in the Minden area and is a reassuring presence for our seniors as well." He noted that Minden is fortunate to have a large amount of senior housing, with a new 40 unit complex just announced several weeks ago. He also pointed out there is a large number of seasonal residents who rely on the health care services provided in Minden. "All these people look to the hospital as an important part of the health care services in our community. I agree with them and want to see it continued here."

This is not the first time Bill has donated a portion of his commissions to area worthy causes. When the Minden and Stanhope Fire Departments launched a fund-raising drive to purchase "Jaws of Life", he introduced a similar program to support those efforts.

Bill's interest in the hospital and health care over the past several years included a three year term as a representative on the St. Joseph's Hospital Board of Directors, chairman of the committee examining health care services in the community and Minden chairman of the fund-raising drive for the expansion of the Haliburton County Chronic Care addition.

Bill invites anyone interested in buying, selling or investing to give him a call. Retiring Happy

After 37 years, the Happy Hylander is hanging up his scarf and top hat and making way for a fresh new Winter Carnival mascot.

Much like the Kinsmen, who organized the carnival for the past 33 years, Happy the snowman feels it's time to pass along the snowball and let someone else roll with it.

An ambitious new group has stepped in to keep the carnival alive. And judging by the line-up of activities for January 27 to 30, they're going all out to breathe new life into the annual event. They've even signed up a new mascot to replace Happy, but it seems they forgot to give him (or her) a name.

If you have a good name in mind for the snowy mascot, write it down on a piece of paper and drop it in at The Times office. You could win a lifetime pass to the Carnival.

Once bitten

County Council's preliminary reaction to a bid for it to take up the task of leading the local health-care fundraising effort is understandable, yet disturbing.

Dysart Reeve Chris Hodgson has asked County Council to consider what role it might play in the effort to raise the $4-million that will be needed to access the province's $6.5-million commitment. The request, however, was met with understandable skepticism. Once bitten, twice shy, they say, and we've been bitten more than once in this long-running episode.

Still, we have to wonder what's to come of this opportunity if no one is willing to take a chance and force the ministry's hand. Maybe the ministry is again pulling our legs. But then again, maybe it's not.

We've come too far to let this opportunity die for lack of local support. We've done the studies, we've argued at length about location, and now we have a surprisingly generous commitment from the Ministry of Health. We realize there are many questions that still need addressing before the shovel breaks the ground, but the one certainty is that little will happen until we manage to raise our share of the costs.

County Council will again be discussing its involvement in this matter on January 19. Let's hope councillors can set aside their skepticism and somehow make this thing work.

Tax the rich, save the poor

Editor,

What exactly is a tolerant society?

The pictures in the news this past week of lost people sleeping on Toronto streets in minus 30 weather has left me gripped in guilt.

What I can't give is money, but I can give my voice to the cause. What tolerance allows someone to drive a $200,000 car while someone not so lucky lies in the street, freezing cold, beyond reality, before my eyes on television?

Why wait for world government to step in? What's wrong with our system if this is the outcome? My eyes have tears and my heart loses soul when I realize: it just takes a majority of people and the rules will be changed.

It's time for the rich to pay, and small taxes on huge corporations is a paltry beginning.

Framed

No wonder they have publicity bans

Hard to believe that way back in 1837, Charles Dickens had twigged to the fundamental characteristic of our justice system. It's fundamental insanity, I mean.

The evidence, M'lud, is all around us. Check out the Karla Homolka/Paul Teale publicity it-is-to-laugh ban. This contemptible attempt at media management was doomed before the judge's gavel hit the bench. Ban publicity? Sure, you can padlock the door of the Moose Jaw Examiner or slip a mitten over the microphone of anchorman Joe blow-dry at the local TV station, but . . . has His Honour heard of, oh . . . electricity? How do you muzzle a communications satellite orbiting the earth? How do you stop a radio station in Detroit from lobbing its signal at will across the world's longest undefended border?

You don't. Which is why millions of Canadians know more than they ever cared to about the grisly details of the Teale/Homolka outrage.

But, thanks to the Canadian judiciary, all our knowledge comes with a tiny tag around it that reads: Made in U.S.A.

Stupid or not, our judges have obviously taken a fancy to this new, less bothersome form of dispensing justice. Have you noticed a proliferation of secret trials going on recently? Of course you haven't — the Canadian media have been forbidden to print, televise or broadcast them. There's at least one such trial going on right now, but if I told you where it is or who's been charged or what's involved, I could be arrested and thrown in the slammer for contempt of court.

The Canadian Bill of Rights. How do you like it so far?

ass. A idiot."*

Cheer up. Our justice system may be goofy, undemocratic and hopelessly behind the times but at least it's not quite as insane as the variety of jurisprudence practised to the south.

Exhibit A: The U.S. Court of Appeals versus Merrill Chamberlain, a two-bit thug serving a life sentence for the murder of a New Mexico police officer. Mr. Chamberlain sued the police, claiming it was their fault he was guilty of murder, because they had "allowed him to gain access to his handgun" — and — "the officer he shot had foolishly neglected to wear a bullet-proof vest."

Verdict pending.

Exhibit B: McCummings versus Sandusky. This case goes back to 1984 when Jerome Sandusky, a 71-year-old retired businessman was smashed to the ground and robbed by two muggers in the New York subway.

Sandusky's glasses were shattered. His jacket was torn. He was bruised and bloodied. He probably would have had his throat slit, except a New York police officer came upon the scene. The muggers fled, the cop shot one of them, one Bernard McCummings.

Mr. McCummings, 48 years younger than the man he assaulted, had just finished serving time for a previous robbery.

Well, the Mills of the Gods grind slowly and the wheels of justice sometimes barely turn at all, but turn they did. Last month, the U.S. Supreme Court made a $2 million settlement in the Sandusky/McCummings case.

Nine years after the incident, granted, but better late than never.

What's that you ask? How is Mr. Sandusky going to spend the award money? My, you are naive aren't you?

Jerome Sandusky didn't get the money. The victim of the mugging, now 80, didn't get a dime.

It was the mugger, Bernard McCummings, who got the $2 million. For pain and injury caused by the policeman's bullet.

I know Justice is supposed to be blind, but where does it say that it has to be bone-stupid too?

LDL township businesses can open on holidays

By Jerry Grozelle

What if a public meeting was held and nobody showed up. Well, that's what happened at the Laxton, Digby and Longford Township council chambers on January 4.

The public meeting, giving the municipality's business owners the opportunity to voice their concerns (pro or con) regarding the Retail Business Holidays Municipal By-law was to precede the regular council meeting.

Council briefly discussed the proposed By-law, which would allow businesses to open during their regular business hours on public holidays, if they so choose.

Local municipalities are required to pass By-laws which would either permit or prevent businesses from opening on holidays such as Christmas, New Years Day, Good Friday, Canada Day, Labour

Day and others.

Later, during the regular meeting, the By-law was officially passed. LDL council was unanimous in its decision to allow all businesses within the jurisdiction of the municipality the option of opening during their regular business hours on any public holiday.

$1,500 DONATION

The Norland Ladies' Auxiliary of the Fire Department has donated $1,500 to the Recreation Department. Council will be sending a letter of appreciation.

COMMITTEES

The various committees to which members of council have belonged will remain the same for 1994 with the exception that Deputy-Reeve Mike Riordon will also sit on the LDL Recreation committee.

Briefly

Laxton, Digby, Longford Council Notes

IN THE OFFICE

LDL's Chief Building Inspector and By-law Enforcement Officer Margaret LeCraw may be a little easier to contact in the future.

Council passed a motion requiring LeCraw to be in her office at the Municipal Office from 8:30 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. Monday to Friday.

$100 GRANT

Council, with one dissenting vote, decided to give a $100 grant to St. John Ambulance.

John Macklem, the dissenting vote, said that he is opposed in principle to municipal officials donating taxpayers' money to any organization. He pointed out that he thinks St. John Ambulance is a great organization, as are many others that request donations. But he feels that the residents of the municipality would prefer to make their donations on their own.

"If I want to donate money to St. John Ambulance, or any other worthy cause, I will," he said.

"It shouldn't be up to township officials to decide which charitable organizations to support on behalf of township residents.

NO DUMP

Metro's search for a willing municipality to provide a landfill site for its garbage won't get any help from LDL.

Council voted unanimously to oppose any bids for a Metro landfill site within the boundaries of the United Townships of Laxton, Digby and Longford.

Trustees reject college computer proposal

by Russ Duhaime

A proposal for college computer courses at the high school is not feasible, the school board's Education Committee determined Tuesday.

Sir Sandford Fleming College was proposing to offer an advanced computers course to high school students, which would be offered immediately after the end of the school day.

The college was asking for the use of the school's computer lab for about two hours each week. The committee, however, cautiously turned down the request.

The school is in the process of setting up a new computer lab, which will not be complete for a few months. The committee also feels that the school's computers must be accessible to students after school hours.

Committee Chairman John Munro said he hopes this rejection will not be misinterpreted by the college. "I hope they don't perceive this as a sign that we don't want to be co-operative."

The proposal asked for use of the lab for 90 minutes each week. The college also offered to limit enrolment, to allow for independent use of some equipment by non-course members.

Redmen rebound against Weldon

HHSS beats Wildcats, but loses to LCVI 6-3

by Andy Holloway

Perhaps the Haliburton Redmen ate a little too much stuffing with their Christmas dinners this year.

The team came out flat against the Lindsay Spartans last Wednesday and was dropped 6-3.

The team did, however, rebound against I.E. Weldon the next night in Lindsay beating the Wildcats 7-2. Mark Stamp recorded a hat trick in that game and Mike MacKenzie chipped in with a pair to lead the Redmen to their seventh win in 13 games.

Earlier this season the Redmen beat the Spartans 11-1, but it was a very different Redmen team that took on an energetic LCVI squad.

The Redmen started out well enough jumping out to a quick 1-0 lead when Mike Billings fed a good lead pass to Colin Morrison who moved in alone and beat the Spartans' netminder with a glove side shot.

The Spartans tied it up less than two minutes later, but the Redmen regained the lead when Jonathon Bishop scored on a hard shot from in front of the net. Bill Bradley and Mike MacKenzie picked up assists on the goal.

With just over a minute left in the first Jason Baldwin scored on a breakaway against Justin Rowden to tie it up. The Spartans took their first lead of the game one minute into the second when the Redmen defence gave the puck away and Brian Worsley capitalized on it.

Greg Stamp tied it up for the Redmen converting a nice feed from brother Mark, but it was all Spartans from there.

HHSS Redmen goalie Justin Rowden looks on while Bill Bradley starts to head up the ice in the first period of what turned out to be a 6-3 loss to the LCVI Spartans.

The Spartans scored three goals before the end of the second to take a commanding 6-3 lead into the third period. Redmen goalie Rowden was pulled after the Spartans' fifth goal in favour of Peter Brohman, but the change did very little as the first shot directed at Brohman went in as well.

In Brief

Prizes for penalty free hockey

Rock 'em, sock 'em Don Cherry may not approve, but teams playing penalty-free hockey have a chance to win $24,000 in prizes as the Penalty Free Sweepstakes returns for its seventh year.

The campaign was developed by Hockey Development Centre Ontario (HDCO) and is open to any amateur team in the province that plays an entire game penalty free between December 26 and January 30.

Last year there were 4,723 entries making a total of over 21,000 entries during the campaign's six years.

Some of the prizes available include equipment, tickets to the Canadian University Cup, practice planners and team passports to Canada's Wonderland. Each player from every team entered will receive an achievement certificate acknowledging their team's penalty free play.

Entry forms should be available through local hockey associations, HDCO and Pizza Pizza outlets. For more information call Wayne Dillon at HDCO at 416-495-4060 or write to him at 1220 Sheppard Ave. East, Suite 403, Willowdale, Ontario, M2K 2X1.

Hello Rendezvous '94

Forty snowmobilers will pass through Haliburton County on January 22 on their way from Barrie to Fredericton as part of Rendezvous '94. The event is designed to bring attention to the need for a proposed Trans Canada Snowmobile Trail. Sylvan Tisi of the Canadian Council of Snowmobile Organizations says the snowmobilers will be stopping at the PineStone Inn for breakfast before heading to Bancroft as one of their stops on the 1,500 kilometre trek through eastern Canada. The trek is expected to end on January 29 in Fredericton. CCSO President Harold McAdam says they want to join Canada from coast to coast with a snow highway in the "grand tradition of our forefathers who built the first trans Canada railway."

The OFSC is inviting local snowmobile clubs along the route to join the snowmobilers.

Home Hardware squeaks by The Times

Home Hardware had more trouble than expected when they took on the weakest team in the league last Monday, but there was no denying them another notch in the wins column.

The opening game of the Monday mens' league action should have been a mismatch. Instead, The Times gave these league leaders a run for their money, forcing Home to settle for a 3-1 win.

Andrew Burke manned the Times net. And although he allowed the black rubber across the crease three times, there's nothing to be ashamed of here. The score could have been — should have been — much higher when the top team faced off against the bottom team in the league. Trini Elias scored two of the goals while Dave Dollo added the third.

Paul Humber filled in for regular netminder Kevin Smith at the other end of the ice and allowed only one goal. This was scored by Clarke Craig.

Game of the weekTyke: Minden vs. Wilberforce

The Minden Monarch Tykes took on a good team from Wilberforce in the opening game of the Minden Tyke Tourney last Saturday at the Arena. The Monarchs were tough, but in the end their cross-county rivals prevailed 3-0 in an exciting game. The one thing you can be sure of in Tyke hockey is that wherever the puck is, you will usually find more than a few players around it - as shown in the photo. Five teams participated in the day-long tourney including Minden, Wilberforce, South River, Gravenhurst and Lindsay.

Hartwick keeps pace

ton, Hartwick Construction managed to stay within one game of the lead by racking up a tie against KDD caterers.

Hamilton flashed four goals past KDD goalie Chris Todd. Jerry Campbell rounded out the Hartwick attack with one. Although they allowed five goals, the KDD team succeeded in shutting down scoring machine Bern Berry.

Scott Danilko and Jeff Howe each scored twice in the KDD effort, while Doug Aldsworth added one. A weary Andrew Burke manned the Hartwick net for his second game of the night.

Stamp 9, Westside 1

Arena crews were kept busy replacing bulbs in the red light behind the Westside net during the final game of the night. It was flashing on so frequently, the filament kept overheating.

Stamp Fuels pumped in nine goals in this game with Gord Wood picking up yet another hat-trick. Craig Philip and Charlie Teljeur each added two to the count while Craig Crowe and Alec Little each put one past Westside goalie Duane Lennie.

Westside's only goal of the game came from Tom Haley, spoiling Brett Foster's chances of a shutout.

Sled Dog Derby hits big time

Minden event to be broadcast on TSN for the first time

by Russ Duhaime

The Minden Sled Dog derby has finally made the big time.

Thanks to tremendous community support, this year's running will be broadcast on The Sports Network (TSN).

In addition to the race action, this production will focus in on several other aspects of winter recreation in the Highlands. About half of the 30-minute program will showcase activities such as skiing, ice fishing and snowmobiling.

Hart Lodge owner Wayne Cowling was instrumental in making the connections with TSN. He said he has had several discussions with derby organizers about the potential for full television coverage of the event. Cowling made a few calls to a production company that works for TSN and worked out an agreement.

Co-sponsors of this production will be Martin Pet Foods, the Minden BIA, the Chamber of Commerce and Hart Lodge. The Haliburton Highlands Snowmobile Association has also offered its support to help the crews get wherever they need to be on the weekend of the race.

The derby, which is in its 10th year, is scheduled to run on January 22 and 23. This TSN program will be aired at least three times afterwards, said Cowling.

Chamber director Carol Moffatt said this is an outstanding marketing opportunity for the derby and the county. It is estimated that about 700,000 people will view these broadcasts.

In addition to the airings on TSN, Cowling said there is potential that it may also be seen on other stations. He said TSN will hold the rights to the production, but it will be available for sale to other networks.

Moffatt says this production will also be useful in ongoing marketing efforts by the chamber. She said the chamber will likely be able to use it at various trade shows as a promotional tool.

Cowling, who also serves on the chamber's marketing committee, agreed this is an excellent opportunity for the chamber. He said it would cost about $35,000 to produce such a program. Although he wouldn't say how much each of the sponsors is paying, he did said the total cost is much less than this.

Redmen split pair with teams from Lindsay

LCVI held onto the lead through the third period and handed the Redmen their third straight loss.

The referees called a loose game, allowing many tripping and interference penalties to go uncalled, but they cracked down on the rough stuff and the yapping after the whistle. One Spartan was ejected from the game for mouthing off to the referee in the first period and Redmen Jeff Black and Spartan Kevin Radke were given 10 minute misconducts for yapping in the second.

Fenelon Falls visits Haliburton Arena this Wednesday to play the Redmen.

Medalists coming to Minden10th annual race looks a go

Sled dog derby attracts top competitors

The 10th anniversary edition of the Minden Techni-cal Challenge is almost here. In just two weeks, mushers from all over the continent — and even one or two from Europe — will converge on the cottage-country town of Minden to compete for big bucks and maximum points towards the 1994 championship medals.

The Minden Techni-cal Challenge is the world's largest limited-class speed race for sled dogs. It offers the largest purse outside Alaska — $25,000 provided by race sponsor Martin Pet Foods — and maximum medals points. As a result, it attracts the world's top competitors, both human and canine. As many as 80 teams are expected from Massachusetts to Manitoba to Minnesota to California.

Competition at the 10th Annual Minden Techni-cal Challenge will be stiffer than ever. Race Governor Val Lougheed reports that a number of the 1993 ISDRA medallists — the best mushers in the world — have already registered their teams. They include Terri Killam of Northboro, Massachusetts, 1993 Gold Medallist in the eight-dog class, and Lou Serre of Markstay, Ontario, 1993 Gold Medallist in the four-dog class. Serre was also four-dog winner at the 1993 IFSS World Championships held in Fairbanks, Alaska, last March.

This premier event on the North American sled-dog racing circuit takes place Saturday, January 22, and Sunday, January 23, 1994. On the preceding Friday evening, the bib draw to determine the order in which the teams will leave next morning will be held at the world-famous Rockcliffe Tavern on Main Street.

In fact, everything begins and ends on Main Street. The big timber-frame log chute that marks the start/finish line is right in the middle of the road, providing everyone with a ringside view of the action, both coming and going. Racing takes place throughout Saturday and Sunday, starting at 10:00 a.m.

The delightful kid-and-mutt race has been a regular feature of this family-oriented weekend since the race began in 1985. It is held on Saturday afternoon after the official heats in the eight- and four-dog classes are over. Up to 20 teams, each consisting of one kid and one mutt, race in succession up the length of Main Street from the bridge to the log chute. The best part is that every entrant is a winner, taking home a prize ribbon — although a few particularly fast young mushers also receive a trophy, and the fastest of them all wins a special prize donated by a local merchant.

The prizes for the eight- and four-dog classes are presented on Sunday afternoon on a stage specially constructed beside Main Street. The top three winners in each class, based on their combined times from Saturday and Sunday's heats, will receive substantial cheques, a bottle of Henckell Trocken Sparkling Wine provided by Sainsbury & Company Ltd. of Toronto, and a bag of Martin's Techni-cal dog food. Prize money is also paid up to 20th place and day money is paid to each day's top three finishers.

The Sled Dog Derby Committee is selling event posters from the previous three years for $5 each or a set for $10 at this year's derby, scheduled for January 22.

In addition to all this excitement, visitors can take part in kick-sled races, meet "Drifter" the race mascot, and visit the dog lot to look over the animals and talk with the mushers. "Catch The Drift", a song written and recorded by local musicians, will be once again the theme song for the entire weekend.

The Haliburton Highlands is well-known as a summer-time recreational playground. The Minden Techni-cal Challenge is one of several events that show off its beauty in winter. The extensive tourist facilities of the Haliburton Highlands are ready to welcome all those who visit the area for this exciting family weekend.

Pensions increase slightly

As of January 1, Old Age Security, Guaranteed Income Supplement, Spouses Allowance and Widowed Spouses Allowance was increased.

Old Age Security pensions increased from $384.66 to $385.81 per month. The Guaranteed Income Supplement maximum changed from $457.13 to $458.50 for a single person and from $297.76 to $298.65 for a married recipient. The maximum Spouses Allowance paid to low-income individuals between 60-64 years of age and who are married to GIS recipients increased from $682.42 to $684.46.

The maximum Widowed Spouses Allowance paid to low-income widowed persons between 60 and 64 years old was upped to $755.64 from $753.38. When applying for Canada Pension during 1994 the maximum amount that can be received at age 65 is $694.44 per month.

If you have a question regarding these new rates or need help completing an application, contact your nearest Info Centre in Haliburton or Minden.

Children's foundation seeks help for special campaign

The Kawartha-Haliburton Children's Foundation is seeking the assistance of the community in planning events for its annual "Aid Children's Aid Week" campaign.

This special week runs from March 20 to 26.

The foundation provides for the special needs of children who are in contact with the Children's Aid Society. The society's primary concern is for the protection of children in Peterborough, Victoria and Haliburton Counties. Children come into the care of the society when they have suffered physical, sexual or emotional abuse, or a combination of these.

The foundation sponsors an annual summer camp program, enabling as many as 50 children each year to attend various camps throughout the region. The foundation also supports abuse prevention programs, a bursary program for post secondary education and special purchases for children with exceptional needs.

The society is funded to provide protection services, says Patti Hendriks, coordinator of Aid Children's Aid Week. "These children have many needs that cannot be met through our ministry funding and the foundation is available to assist where they can."

At any one time in 1993, the number of children in care has been between 186 and 191.

"Think of the needs of your own children," Hendriks adds, "and multiply that by 190. You can appreciate just how many things may be requested and how costly those may be."

In 1993, the foundation provided more than $20,000 for the benefit of children. Funds are raised through donations from the community and through events held throughout the year, with a major focus on the Aid Children's Aid Week activities. Hendriks is asking service clubs, churches, schools and businesses to consider holding an event within their organization during the last week of March. All proceeds will directly benefit children in the community.

For further information or to confirm an event, call Hendricks at 743-9751

Art rooms at CHACE centres come alive

The art rooms at CHACE's Resource Centres were alive with excitement and creativity during the months of November and December thanks to the generous donations from the following businesses: Auriga Design; Elstone Motors; Haliburton and Minden Valu-Marts; The Magic Touch; Dollo's IGA and Shawn Hagerman. CHACE will soon be gearing up for our 1994-95 programming campaign where we will again approach local businesses to sponsor (or co-sponsor) the costs of one month's art and programming supplies at our Haliburton and Minden Resource Centres. If you or your business are able to contribute to this venture, we would be thrilled to hear from you.

As we embark on a new year, I'd like to extend a special thank you to everyone who contributed so greatly to CHACE in 1993. We have maintained our commitment to the children of Haliburton County under the excellent leadership of our volunteer board of directors, through our dedicated volunteer committee structure and, in no small part, through the efforts of our wonderful staff team. A special thank-you to each of you.

Why not make CHACE a part of your routine in 1994? As the clearinghouse for all child care services in the county, CHACE offers support to caregivers and parents through our resource centres, referral to our own licensed child care centre and private home day care services as well as information on all the child care options available in our county. For information on any of CHACE's programs, please feel free to call our head office at 457-2989.

Noisy residents usher in the New Year

We began our week on Christmas Day. After breakfast we dressed in our best bib and tucker and then assembled in the Trillium Lounge to await Santa. He soon arrived with his elves and everyone received an appropriate gift through the generosity of the Hyland Crest Auxiliary Ladies. Every resident was visited by Santa and his helpers accompanied by many Ho Ho Ho's. This was followed by a delicious turkey dinner with all the trimmings. Many thanks to Santa, his helpers, and the dietary staff. After dinner most residents left for their own family homes.

Sunday night Reverend John Burgess conducted the chapel service and Louise Leonard played the organ.

Senior League

by Winnifred Barnum

Tuesday evening Corinne Arsenault convened a couple of tables of cards and she is now going away for a holiday. Pearl Cowen will be our helper during this time.

Wednesday John Menzies came to play the piano and his friend came to sing, which we enjoyed immensely.

The Activities Department and supervisors provided a delicious tea for our enjoyment. Those who hosted the Thursday Tea were Beverly Upton, Lynn Shirley, Kathy Woods, Linda Fry, Phyllis Hiltz-Bontje, Marie Baker and Lesley English. Residents do thank these ladies for a lovely time and their thoughtfulness. This was also a birthday tea. Those honoured were Louise Bishop, Gertrude McKay, Beverly Robson and Anne Schultz.

December 31 we welcomed in the New Year during Happy Hour instead of at midnight. The entertainment was provided by the Grandfathers 3 - Bill Payne, Don White and Eldon Deacon. The refreshments were provided on a buffet table in the centre. Everyone had noisemakers and at 3:30 p.m. Doris counted down and we ushered in the New Year.

Happy New Year everyone!

Martin Pet Foods Presents

THE MINDEN TECHNICAL Challenge SLED DOG DERBY

January 22 & 23, 1994 Main Street, Minden

NOTE: Please leave your pet dogs at home.

Special Announcements for Sled Dog Derby Volunteers and Supporters

VOLUNTEERS MEETING

A meeting of individuals interested in assisting during the Sled Dog Derby January 22 and 23 will be held on in the Minden Library Cultural Centre Common Room at 7:30 p.m. Volunteers are needed to help with traffic and crowd control, assist in the pit area, and numerous other duties. Most of the work takes place outdoors, so we require individuals who enjoy, or who don't mind winter weather. (And there will be snow this year!) If you are unable to attend the meeting, but would like to help, please call 286-1119 to register. Without the support of community volunteers, this event would not be possible. Your involvement is appreciated.

PRINT RAFFLE

Thanks to the generosity of Ron at Apparitions Fine Art, a Jon Van Zyle matching pair of limited edition prints is being offered as a raffle prize this year in conjunction with the derby. Tickets, just $1 each, are available at Minden area stores. All proceeds go to support the operation of the Sled Dog Derby. These beautiful prints, depicting a sled dog team in the far north, are on display at Apparitions Fine Art on Minden's Main Street.

Big birthday celebrated at Staunworth

Although New Year's Eve was a quiet time at Staunworth Court, celebrations livened up on January 3 when residents gathered to help Henry Howe celebrate his 92nd birthday. Henry was thoroughly surprised, but enjoyed the hugging, kissing and well-wishes from all his friends.

The Christmas season saw some of our residents taking off to be with their families. Len and Mable Trodd left for Florida and were followed by Jean and Harry Cowen. Harry had a lucky week, winning prizes in two local draws. We all hope his third win will be The Big One.

One of the pre-Christmas activities done by some of our residents included the knitting of mitts, hats and slippers to be included in the Christmas boxes. Food was also collected and donated to the drive.

Did you hear the story of the three-year-old boy who attended Church with his grandma for the first time. When the collection plate came around he whispered, "You don't have to pay for me Grandma, I'm not five yet."

Perhaps the onset of a new year gives us all the opportunity to look backward with gratitude; to look onward with hope; and to look upward with confidence.

A DEADLY OVERSIGHT

Population explosion threatens existence

The two-headed Roman god, Janus, could see ahead and behind, so it's appropriate that we named the first month of the year after him. Janus symbolized our enormous capacity for memory that lets us remember the past and our ability to anticipate the consequences of our current behaviour on the future. Today, however, our political leaders seem blind to the past or the future.

The media compound the difficulty by shattering our world with a barrage of fragments of information that are disconnected from historical, social or philosophical context. Polls that assess every twitch in our attitudes only serve to focus attention more urgently on immediate concerns and crises.

Suppose we shift our perspective beyond the next paycheque.

In another six years, we will reach the next millennium along with more than six billion fellow human beings. The global population in my lifetime will have tripled. That staggering figure is without precedent in human history. And the environmental effect of our skyrocketing numbers has been exacerbated by an even sharper rise in technological innovation.

The entire history of modern science, medicine and technology has virtually occurred within the century and each modernization has increased our ability to alter our surroundings. Children born today have a much greater environmental impact than those born in 1900.

Most people alive today were born after the Second World War, so to them, change caused by the spectacular growth in technology and human numbers seems normal. We're hardly aware of it.

It's a deadly oversight.

Consider a population of bacteria. When cells are first introduced into a test tube, there is a long period when they multiply rapidly but are barely detectable because their numbers are so small. However, once the population has built up, the curve rises sharply only to level off in a plateau when resources are exhausted. The bacteria then die.

Leading biologists believe human beings have reached the top end of the growth curve and now exceed the ability of the planet to sustain us indefinitely. We maintain an illusion of wealth and security by using up the very underpinnings of the regenerative and reproductive capacity of the planet.

At the recent first ministers' meeting, there was no discussion about limits to growth and steady state economies because it would be political suicide. Yet by failing to do so, our very survival is threatened.

If we remember anything from 1993, it must be the catastrophic collapse of the Atlantic fishery that imperils a whole way of life. Northern cod, like the world's great coral reefs and forests, represent potentially renewable resources that are being driven to extinction by shortsightedness, ignorance and greed. As with aboriginal people, the plight of Newfoundlanders and Maritimers confronts us with an opportunity to question what our society values and what our goals should be.

Post-election political posturing remains fixed on deficits, provincial transfer payments, NAFTA and GATT. The economic experts summoned by Finance Minister Paul Martin for advice on government programs and priorities were the same folks who have pushed for level playing fields through free trade and globalization of the market. Yet that's what has destroyed local communities and economies, forced poor countries into tremendous debt, trashed ecosystems and mono-cultured the planet with a destructive notion of industrial development as the definition of progress.

Environmentalists now have an opportunity to integrate immediate crises such as threatened watersheds or polluted rivers into a larger context of social and environmental degradation.

Overconsumption and material possessions have not brought greater happiness. Instead, most of us live in cities saddled with enormous problems of racism, violence, drugs, alienation and economic disparity.

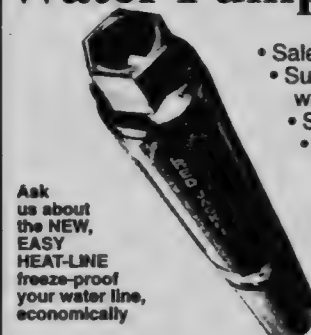

Environmentalism offers an alternative vision of a very different way of living that is focused on communities and the quality of life. As biological beings, our highest priorities must be protection of clean air, water and soil and other living organisms. As social animals, we also need family, love, community, employment, justice and security.

Reflecting on the past decade of rising environmental awareness and concern to the next millennium, our challenge is to design new political and economical strategies that will protect long-term stability of communities and ecosystems.

We are seeking your proposal to undertake architectural services. Architectural firms are requested to specify their background and experience and qualifications in work of this nature, any experience with the Non-Profit Housing Program and anticipated fee for architectural services. Twenty-two Terrace residents stood in a circle to enjoy their New Year's Eve party with games, a singsong and buffet. Everyone sang Auld Lang Syne to end the festivities.

January 3 weekly Monday afternoon euchre game winners at St. Paul's included, for most lone hands, Katie Parker, while others were Hazel Austen, Marg McAfee, Jack Chilton and Hazel winning the draw.

One thing we missed this past week or so was the Library and the Gallery which were closed over the holidays. You never miss something like these until they are gone. We noticed some users not getting their usual reading material and sympathised with them.

Hetty and Jim Green visited their daughter

Carol in Ottawa recently.

Minden Legion Seniors Club euchre game winners on Tuesday afternoon were Hilda Harrison, Georgina Parkes, Irene Fuhr and Jack Chilton with most lone hands.

Guests with Dorothy McElwain last week were Kirk, Julie and Alison McElwain of Ajax and Vicky, Debby, Ryan and Shane McElwain of Lindsay.

Ralph and Kit Schroter spent the New Year with Pat and Dan and girls of Oshawa.

Stanhope Seniors bridge game winners for Tuesday January 4 included Floria Moore, Ray Moore and Russ Fair. These games are open to anyone and start at 1 p.m. No partners required.

Sincere sympathy goes to the families and friends of the late Audrey Deremo, George Tipton, John Macclin, Berta McCrea, Brian Martin Jr., and Georgina Duhamel.

Maud Coulter spent a week visiting her cousins in Newtonville recently.

Sherman and Junior Johnson visited relatives in North Bay over the holiday weekend.

Lochlin Centre was busy Tuesday evening January 4 where the winners included Chic Minaker for most lone hands, Joyce Schellenberg, Gerald Hicks, Betty Hicks and Chris Hill. The next games held there will be January 18 at 7:30 p.m.

Members of the Womens Institute are reminded that the January 19 meeting will be held at 2 p.m. in the Library/Cultural Centre and collection will be for the card fund.

Club 35 euchre game winners on January 3 included Bob Lewis, with most lone hands, Helen Windsor, Pat Scadden, Jean Scadden, Cliff Woolner and Jack Gregory. The 50-50 draw winner was Garth Windsor.

Our scenery looks really great right now, just like a Christmas card, however it is a bit slippery for those who enjoy walking. It looks like an old fashioned winter with really cold temperatures and sometimes you hear the snaps in the trees as we did many years ago. Snowmobiles and skiing are here again and we saw fish huts on the lakes again for all the outdoor people. Next big event is the Sled Dog Derby on January 22 and 23.
